Are you an Early Childhood Educator?

Are you working towards your Diploma or Certificate III?

Do you speak a language other than English?

Whether it's your first step into the Early Childhood Education and Care (ECEC) field or you're an experienced educator looking for flexibility and meaningful work in the field, you will love working for the Bicultural Support Program, our historic, not-for-profit program for children, families and educators.

Join 400 other workers across NSW helping to support children from Culturally and Linguistically Diverse (CALD), Aboriginal and Refugee backgrounds in ECEC services, and make a difference in the lives of all children and communities.

Would you like?

- Casual work with many benefits
- To work for a world-renowned, UNESCO-recognised, best-practice model with 40 years' experience in the field
- Great award wages and benefits
- To be part of the original, first Bicultural Support Program in NSW
- Work during school-time hours
- To choose when, where and how you work
- To receive ongoing professional development and training
- Superannuation, insurance, travel benefits
